

Health threats from climate change: Scientific evidence for policy-making

An EPRS/EASAC joint event

Tuesday 1 October 2019 | 13:00 – 14:15 hours
Library Reading Room, 5th floor, Altiero Spinelli Building (ASP 05D)
European Parliament, Brussels

PROGRAMME

- 13:00 Welcome by Étienne BASSOT, Director, Members' Research Service, EPRS
Opening speech by Cristian BUȘOI, MEP, Vice-Chair of the Committee on the Environment, Public Health and Food Safety (ENVI)
- 13:10 Presentation of EASAC report 'The imperative of climate action to protect human health in Europe' by EASAC co-chairs Andy HAINES and Volker TER MEULEN
- 13:30 Robin FEARS, EASAC Biosciences Programme Director on policy challenges
- 13:40 Roundtable discussion with:
- Andy HAINES, Professor of environmental change and public health, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine
 - Robin FEARS, EASAC Biosciences programme Director
 - Caroline COSTONGS, Director of EuroHealthNet, Brussels
 - Gregor ERBACH, Policy analyst, EPRS
- Moderator: Alessandro PICCIOLI*, Head of the Economic Policies Unit, EPRS
- 13:55 Questions and interventions from the audience
- 14:15 End of event

Please be advised that photographs, audio and/or video may be taken at this event and may be used on EPRS online platforms, publications and promotional material.

